PROFICIENCY TESTING IN ISRAEL

FAPAS is a trading name within Fera Science Ltd, a company owned by Defra (UK Government Department for Environmental Food and Rural Affairs) and Bridgepoint. FAPAS runs Proficiency Tests to assess the competence of Analytical Laboratories, which may be required by Accreditation Bodies.

FAPAS has been organising proficiency tests for food chemistry, food microbiology and environmental analysis for more than fifteen years. More than 4500 participants from over 120 countries currently take part in our schemes and we can provide bespoke services on request. The services provided are confidential, further details are available in our protocols [1].

Eldan Electronic Instruments Ltd is authorised to act as the exclusive FAPAS Agent up until 31 December 2025 for subscribers in Israel. Agents are authorised to collect orders for Proficiency Tests and Products from subscribers to the Schemes (Food Chemistry, Food Microbiology, GM Foods and Water and Environmental scheme) in the Territory on the terms and conditions notified to them by Fera [2].

Yours sincerely,

Sarah Hasnip
